

Study online, earn your degree from Mount Kenya University

Ever thought of upgrading your academic qualifications?

Maybe you have, but you felt discouraged for lack of time to attend face-to-face classes.

Do not limit yourself. Ever. And more so, not in a world powered by digital technology which has ensured a revolution in technology driven education. Modern technology, including Artificial Intelligence (AI), now widely available across the globe, makes so much possible.

Don't allow a tight schedule to deny you the chance to position yourself for greater personal success. You can unlock your God-given potential by taking a serious shot at higher education – because it eventually pays off. Indeed, you can go on to unlock infinite possibilities!

Remember, it's within your powers to upgrade your high school certificate to a Diploma, or to a Bachelor's degree. If you already possess a first degree, think of going for your Master's. You can do it!

Yes, you can return to school without relocating or quitting your job. You also avoid the hassle of commuting. This, clearly, is a smart way of investing in your future. You can also conveniently access online assessment and examinations online through the AI-based systems.

Take advantage of the convenience and flexibility that online learning offers to obtain the credentials you desire!

If you want to first understand the advantages of online learning before enrolling, that's fine. Online learning is both convenient and flexible and has many benefits.

Online education is convenient for people who are busy for the majority of the day either because of their work schedules or the commitments of their personal life. It is a viable means of continuing education without sacrificing your normal routine.

Through this mode, you can remotely take classes by connecting with the university faculty online, earn a degree, and gain new skills that will stand you in good stead in life. The degree you earn is the same as that by the other students who attend classes on campus. This is because the coursework and the curriculum is the same. The difference is the mode of study.

You also receive academic, technical and administrative support throughout your study life.
